

Oskar's UK Tippler Tour

Oskar and a few Tippler friends visiting the loft of Harry Shannon

Left Toronto a hot and humid high 30 or low 40 degree Celsius. Few hours later Kathy and I landed at Belfast airport and found ourselves freezing our behinds at ten centigrade and rain. Our friend Bobby Dunseith came to pick us up and took us to the Shannon's home where Anne and Harry made us feel truly welcome. Their home was our home for the next couple of weeks. Ann and Harry took us everywhere visiting some of the most beautiful scenic places.

But none more special than the lofts I was about to see in Belfast. Harry also arranged a visit to England to see more fantastic pigeons, pigeon fanciers and a hospitality level second to none.

We had a fantastic time in both places, to say the least. As I go along with different photos, I will try to detail something about the photo so that you gain a better perspective of the wonderful people and birds I saw.
